Graduation Sunday was celebrated on Pentecost, Sunday, June 4, 2017 at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Export. Three high school graduating seniors were honored during worship at which time each received a handmade, personalized quilt which were created by a group of women in the congregation to remind the students of the love and prayers being offered by their church family as they transition to the next chapter of their lives. Shown with guest minister, Pastor Bob Schlotter, are Eric Festa (2017 Franklin Regional graduate), Abby Seidling (2017 Gateway graduate), and Ryan Dean (2017 Franklin Regional graduate).

ATTENTION:

Riding the Waves with Jesus - A Spiritual Adventure VBS

At our RIDING THE WAVES WITH JESUS Vacation Bible School (VBS) this summer, we will be experiencing A Spiritual Adventure.

We have classes available for children from age 3 through the completion of 5th grade.

Monday (7/17) through Thursday (7/20) VBS will be from 9:30AM to 12:30PM with the following activities that will each reinforce the lesson of the day:

- Lessons
- Movie Clips
- Science
- Music
- Crafts
- Snacks
- Games

We are so excited to say that our VBS is FREE again this year (although we will still be helping Social Ministry by collecting only TOILET PAPER).

Friday evening (7/21) we will start our family fellowship time at 6:30PM with a Pasta Party preceding the entertainment provided by the children. Families will be asked to donate to a free will offering for the Pasta Party . . . just think, no dinner to cook.

Please plan to join us as a student, a helper, or a guest at our VBS. For more information or to volunteer, contact Amy Foust (412-445-3262, 724-327-2190 or elcna1c@gmail.com).

HEALTH MINISTRY CORNER

“But everything that was gain to me, I have considered to be a loss because of Christ” Philippians 3:7

You lean over to grab a cookie, but miss. It tumbles and lands on the floor, just before you have a chance to scoop it up.

Five-second rule — you can still eat it if it's only on the ground for a second or two. Right?

You may follow the 5-second rule without considering the potential health hazards. How accurate is this rule — and can you really eat that cookie once it's been on the ground?

What Is the “5-Second Rule?”

According to the unofficial “5-second rule,” when an item of food falls to the ground, for about the first 5 seconds, it's safe to pick up and eat. After five seconds, the food is dirty, and you should throw it away.

Bacteria and other organisms that live on the floors of kitchens and dining rooms are not visible to the naked eye, so it is easy to believe your dropped cookie is still clean and safe to eat.

The 5-second rule implies that it takes time for those germs to move from the floor to the cookie, giving you a short window to retrieve your food.

So, Is the 5-Second Rule Real?

The answer is — sort of.

Several studies have been conducted to determine whether the 5-second rule is true. The consensus: Food left on the ground for longer periods of time does collect more bacteria. The longer your food is on the floor, the dirtier it becomes.

However, as soon as food touches the ground, it is likely instantly contaminated with the bacteria it contacts. So, once your food touches the ground, it is, in fact, tainted by bacteria.

Can You Eat Food That's Been on the Ground?

The instant food falls on the ground it immediately becomes contaminated with bacteria.

The number of germs and bacteria that attach to the food does depend on both the type of food and surface you drop it on. For example, if you drop food that is moist or sticky on any surface, it may gather more than dry food. Hardwood floors are also more likely to transfer bacteria to any type of food.

Carpet and other similar surfaces absorb more bacteria so less attaches to the piece of food, but this still does not make it safe to eat.

So the next time you drop a piece of food on the ground, no matter how delicious, instead of counting to five, take the safe route and throw it away.
